PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Becoming an Advocate for the Profession

As many of you know, I enjoy the farm and ranch business and use it as my escape from the day to day grind of periodontics and practice management. It helps me to clear out the mental clutter and reboot my system for the daily challenges of life.

The field, as many authors have alluded to, is a good metaphor for many aspects of life. Preparing the soil, planting the seeds, and eventually harvesting what you have planted. As much as I enjoy the solitude and peacefulness of much of the farm life, when it is time to "get the job done" - working cattle, hauling hay out of a field or repairing a broken implement (which occurs frequently) - it takes a team of helping hands to complete the tasks efficiently and effectively. Over the last 11 years or so, while serving on the board in various capacities, I have seen this same pattern being played out on the Southwest Society of Periodontists board of directors as well as within the organization as a whole.

As a team we have continued to grow and nurture this organization and create a productive environment for outstanding education, camaraderie, and interaction with our commercial support. All of this has been done while spending a majority of our time in our independent office settings where we have been working to ensure that a focused vision of our own design is being created.

When I stop, step back, and assess I have noticed an area that is often overlooked is the space in the cycle between harvest and preparation. It is the time when you assess last year's outcomes, identify any areas needing improvement, and determine and gather resources to accomplish the redefined goals.

I feel this is an area which SWSP has begun to target, and it has the potential to make our organization more productive. With guidance from CMP, we have engaged in long-term planning sessions in which we have diligently looked at ways to expand our sphere of influence, increase membership, and appropriately manage our current capital. In effect, we have assessed our outcomes and identified areas of needed improvement.

Now comes the hardest step, acquiring the resources or assets to make the plans develop fully. These resources include monetary assets but also, and often more importantly, physical assets such as man power. I have been blessed to serve with many of you on this board and I applaud your commitment to the organization, guidance and leadership. I would like to challenge those thinking of getting more involved to take the next step. Help us to continue our improvement and plant the next seed of progression for the SWSP. With CMP's excellent oversight and the willingness of current and past board members it is simple to become involved, know the duties that you are responsible for and have someone to help guide you when you are uncertain of the next step.

As a team we are stronger, more effective and efficient. With the climate of change that is currently moving through dentistry it is more important than ever to be a strong unified front to protect our profession, our patients and our organization.

Dr. Scott Dowell
President 2017-2018

WINTER MEETING SPEAKER INFORMATION

Creating The Difference In A Competitive Market / Implant Complications: Problem or Opportunity?

Teaching Method: Lecture

Gregory A. Toback, DMD, MS

Gregory Toback, DMD, MS is a periodontist practicing in New London, CT and is the CEO of Shoreline Periodontics. He received his B.S. from St. John's University (cum laude), and his DMD from UCONN in 1995 (Award for Excellence in Restorative and Prosthetic Dentistry). Following completion of his dental degree, Dr. Toback pursued advanced training in periodontics and dental implants at the University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio.

Dr. Toback is a diplomate of the American Board of Periodontology. He is also a clinical professor at UCONN School of Dental Medicine and has authored papers in major periodontal and dental implant journals. He lectures extensively on a variety of clinical topics including dental implants, bone and soft tissue regeneration, laser periodontal therapy and implant complications.

Dr. Toback has lectured on the subject of "The Business of Periodontics" since 2010, and has become a highly requested speaker on this topic. He has lectured for the Academy of Periodontology, the Midwest Society, the California Society, the Southern Academy and others. He is the founder and CEO of HP3: High Performance Perio Practice which is a consulting business featuring an intense 12-month mentoring business program for periodontists.

Dr. Toback is a clinical investigator of the prestigious McGuire

Institute which focuses on delivering highly relevant clinical research that supports new and improved technologies that benefit patients. In 2017, together with an esteemed group of private practice investigators, he was awarded the AAP Clinical Research Award.

Disclosure of relevant financial relationships [Consultant]: Dr. Toback is the founder and owner of HP3 Mentoring, which is a small group consulting firm helping periodontists grow their business.

Creating The Difference In A Competitive Market Abstract:

In the morning, we will explore the changing dental industry and explore the vulnerability/opportunity of periodontics in the current landscape. We will explore foundational principles of management based on efficient systems that deliver exceptional patient experience. In addition, strategies for creative and unique marketing will be discussed to define and differentiate ourselves in a competitive industry.

Educational Objectives:

1. Understand the economic pressures shaping the dental industry
2. Describe the "entrepreneurial mindset" that will allow periodontist business owners to position their organization in the new market
3. Present examples of strategic marketing campaigns and how to measure response

Implant Complications: Problem or Opportunity? Abstract:

In the afternoon, we will tackle implant complications. Categorization and organization of types of implant afflictions will be reviewed. Decision trees for available therapies will be explored. Finally, we will visit the question of whether implant complications are a problem, or an opportunity for periodontal specialists. Is there an opportunity for periodontists to concentrate efforts in this area and build their practice through this focus? We will discuss and debate this very topic.

Educational Objectives:

1. Review current classification of implant complications and peri-implant disease.
2. Understand the etiologies of peri-implant inflammation and attachment loss.
3. Review the risk factors that may play a role in peri-implant disease.
4. Present available treatment options and provide a basis for decision making on which approaches will be most predictable in achieving desired clinical results. Emphasis on non-surgical therapy, incisional surgery and laser implant surgery will be explored.
5. How to position yourself as the specialist for implant complications and the preferred provider for future treatment.

technology in the fabrication of fixed and removable prosthetics. Mr. Helm attended Texas A&M University and received a degree Kurtis Helm, CDT owns and manages Helm Dental Laboratory in Wylie, Texas. The full-service laboratory employs over 40 technicians and focuses on the latest in Biochemistry. After serving five years in the United States Air Force as a trainer for dental laboratory technicians, he moved back to Texas and opened Helm Dental Laboratory in 1993. Mr. Helm is a Certified Dental Technician in Ceramics and Removable Dentures, and has studied extensively at Pankey, Dawson and LVI.

Disclosure of relevant financial relationships: None.

Presentation Abstract:

Advancements in technologies are moving at a rapid pace and many clinicians are questioning the role that emerging technologies are playing in their practices. The goal of this program is to share information on the newest options for restoring the edentulous patient.

Educational Objectives

1. Understand proper implant diagnostics
2. Evaluate the different options for the edentulous patient
3. Determine how to incorporate the entire dental team into the decision making process.

The Southwest Society would like to introduce you to David Lipton who joined the Southwest Society in 2016. We asked David a few questions to learn why he joined the Society and what benefits he saw from membership. Here's what David told us:

SWSP

Why did you join SWSP?

DAVID

I was an active member of the Florida Association of Periodontists as well as the Southern Academy of Periodontology throughout my residency at the University of Florida College of Dentistry. These societies always made me feel welcomed, not just as a student, but as a colleague. The support, camaraderie, and guidance they provided, assisted me in my development as a periodontist, but also in becoming an active member of the periodontal community.

When I decided to move to Houston, Texas, I wanted to become a member of a community that would give me the same warm welcome that I had previously experienced. The SWSP has made an unfamiliar city feel like home and given me the opportunity to become part of a network of colleagues that is there to offer support and encouragement as I embark on my career as a periodontist.

SWSP

What would you say to encourage someone to join the Society?

DAVID

The SWSP is more than just a professional society with two meetings a year, it is a periodontal family. They embraced me from the beginning and have made me feel like I have been a member of the community for years. They continue to go out of their way to assist me and consistently provide me with inspiration, guidance, and motivation.

SWSP

What benefits do you see as a member of the Society?

DAVID

In the year that I have been a member of the SWSP, I have a new network of colleagues and friends. After many of the members learned that I was new to the Houston and didn't have any friends or family in the area, I am very thankful for the professional mentorship I have been given and the friendships that I have made. I have also had the honor of serving on the Membership Committee and look forward to getting even more involved within the SWSP.

SWSP

Thank you David for taking the time to share your experience!
